Derco Repair signs exclusive agreement with Senior Aerospace

May 25, 2007, MILWAUKEE — Derco Repair Services, Inc. has signed an agreement with Senior Aerospace SSP of Burbank, CA to be its worldwide (excluding original aircraft manufacturers) distributor of ducts and duct assemblies for commercial aircraft. The three-year exclusive agreement, with subsequent one-year terms, covers the CRJ700, CRJ900, GX, G5000, B747, B757, and B777 aircraft. Also included in the agreement are Airbus narrow body CFM56 starter ducts and Boeing 717 APU inlet exhaust ducts. Derco Repair Services will also be the exclusive authorized repair facility for products under this agreement.

“With this agreement, Derco Repair continues to expand its extensive array of commercial aircraft products and services. We’re proud to add Senior Aerospace to our core company of OEM agreements,” states Bob Mingo, General Manager of Derco Repair. “Derco Repair is committed to providing the best value and highest quality repair and overhaul of aircraft accessories and components. In doing so, our customers receive service that is efficient and effective. We provide superior value and top-quality serviced components. Derco Repair consistently exceeds 97% on-time delivery and more than 99% customer acceptance rates.”
