Derco Aerospace enhances worldwide support for Honeywell product line

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 19, 2009 – Derco Aerospace, a Sikorsky Aerospace Services company, has expanded its distribution agreement with Honeywell Defense & Space (D&S) to include support and sales in six additional countries: South Korea, Taiwan, Turkey, Romania, Austria, and Jordan. Derco now supports the Honeywell D&S Military Fixed Wing products and services worldwide, except in Japan. Under the expanded agreement, Derco will further integrate Honeywell products into its supply chain management and fleet sustainment solutions for its customers around the world. Sikorsky Aerospace Services is the worldwide aftermarket business of Sikorsky Aircraft Corp., a subsidiary of United Technologies Corp. (NYSE: UTX).

"Derco is excited to expand on its existing relationship with Honeywell and begin supporting these additional countries with high-quality Honeywell products at reduced lead times," said Brian Holt, Senior Vice President of Sales and Marketing for Derco Aerospace. "Customers will now enjoy the same level of industry-leading support on Honeywell products they have come to expect from Derco on other critical programs."
